#138 HUNTER MALONE
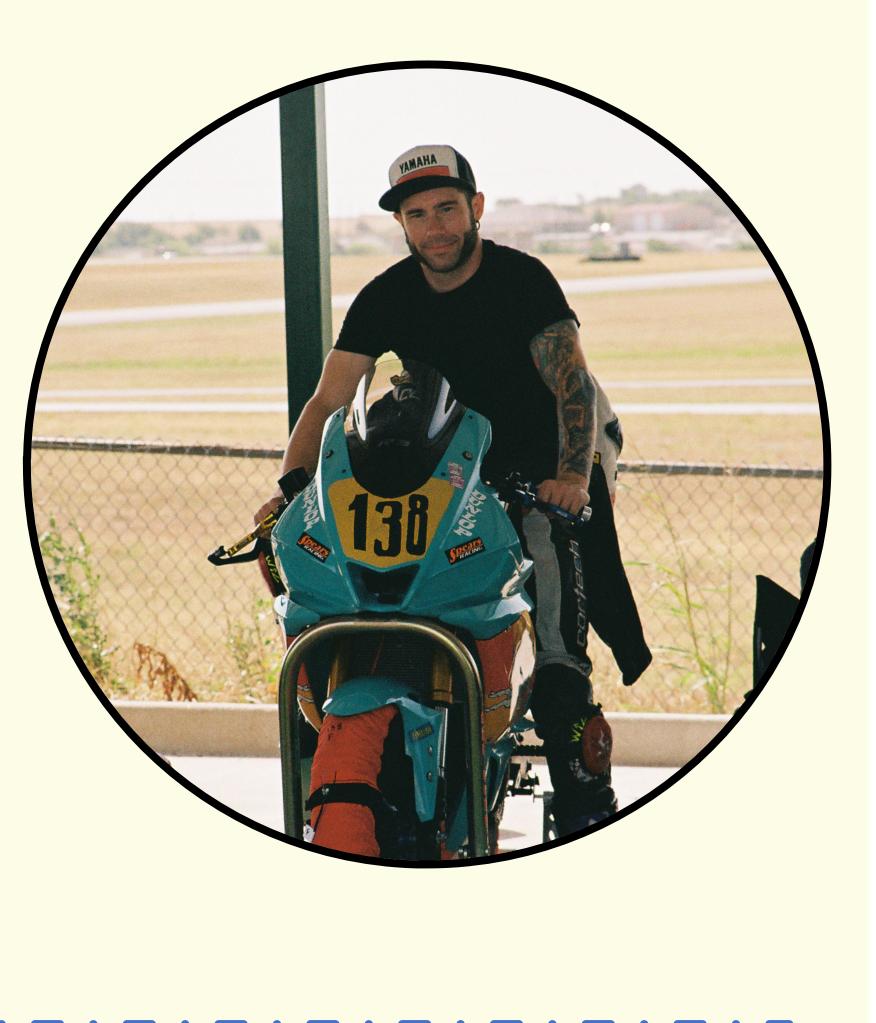

BACKGROUND:

I grew up at the local racetrack; From watching my Uncle compete in motocross, to my Grandfather inside an engine bay prepping a car for the dirt track. The first time I saw the gate drop, I was instantly hooked and told myself that one day, I too would race.

After the completion of my military contract, I was running out of excuses to have not started my racing career. It was time to set out and work towards an obsession that had consumed me for years: The Isle Of Man TT, the fastest and most dangerous road race to exist.

I've since invested every spare amount of time, money, and energy I have into achieving this goal. From weekly workouts, weekend motocross training, to endurance road race events; The past three years have been dedicated to acquiring the skills and support needed in order to fulfill a goal as lofty as the TT.

While my professional racing career didn't start as early as others, my abilities and results are on par with riders having decades of racing experience.

I believe that both my story and mission are different from other riders, and that building a working relationship with a sponsor should reflect our values equally.

I hope to further discuss the reasons why I think our partnership would be mutually beneficial, and I hope to hear from you soon!
